Theme of the Seminar

"Relevance of Vedanta in present scenario"

Vedanta as a subject of traditional approach is an excellent intellectual enterprise providing a strong rational substructure of a variety of spiritualistic metaphysics from ancient times. As a theoretical system it is representative of a set of values promoting to the belief in spirituality. Today in the era of alarming erosion of the social and moral values the Vedanta values are allied ideas required to be reviewed explaining their practical bearing upon the social life and thus strike on the possibility of the resurgence of social values. Vedanta in the contemporary thought, particularly of Rabindra Nath Tagore and Swami Vivekananda full of interpretation of the Upanishads and other Vedanta texts. This seminar is motivated to highlight them along with traditional roots of ancient India. It intends to bring together the recent works on this subject in the light of present value crisis in Indian societies. Vedanta is a traditional literature which helps us to improve our thoughts in modern time as well. Vedanta should be discovered and relocated in the social texture with view to exhibit the divinity in man. Thus the relevance of Vedanta in present scenario is needed to be discussed.
