ABOUT THE COLLEGE:

Asansol Girls' College was founded mostly due to untiring efforts of Dr. Lalit Mohan Sen, the then C.S.O., Mines Board of Health and his worthy wife Smt. Kamala Sen. It was established in 1950, when in his coalfield region, there was no higher education centre only for women. From a humble beginning as an Intermediate College, very soon in 1957-58, it was upgraded to a Degree College. Due to its reputation as an academic centre, the West Bengal Government recognised it as a Government Sponsored College in 1956. The beginning of this college was in the premises of the Manimala Girls' College School, Asansol. In 1962, the college was shifted to the present building. The college owes a great debt to Late Dr. Anjali Roy, a dedicated educationist and principal of this college, who nurtured it from its adolescence to a prestigious institution. To meet the increasing demand for higher education of the girl students of this industrial belt a morning section with B.A. & B.Com. courses was opened. This college has already celebrated its Golden Jubilee in the year 2000.

At present the college has student strength of about twenty-five hundred. We have a record of reputation in this region for good academic ambience. Students of this college are distinguished in Kazi Nazrul University since 2016 (prior to that the college was under the guidance of The University of Burdwan), not only for their academic excellence but also for their Co-curricular activities.

As the college authority is conscious about the present need of the society so it has introduced Honours courses in the subjects of Computer Science, Microbiology, Nutrition and Sociology, BCA.

Ever since its inception the college has strived to achieve its goal with sustained efforts through decades, which is reflected in our academic results.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

1. Year of Establishment of the department:

General Course: 1950

Honours Course: 1995

2. A brief introduction of the department

Asansol Girls' College had already earned for itself a commendable position amidst the colleges, under the Kazi Nazrul University. There were being taught Honours courses in several subjects with mounting pressure on the English Department to launch the Honours course. Asansol being of utmost importance as a second city in West Bengal and the pivotal centre of the vast and precious industrial belt, needed its young girls to be groomed through the undergraduate English Honours course for successful emergence into the increasingly competitive professional world. Study of English is of vital importance for almost all disciplines and areas of work. The Department of English has been existing in the college, since it was established in 1950. Smt. Bela Dutta Chowdhury joined as the first English teacher of the college in 1951 which was then known as Radha Devi Karnani Women's College. Subsequently, in 1955, Shri Muralidhar Sarkar joined the department. Smt. Baby Mitra, Smt. Chitrasena Majumdar, Smt. Kajal Mitra, Smt. Rama Mitra, Smt. Jharna Mukherjee served the department. Prof, Anima Biswas who had been a teacher in this college was associated with the Department of English, Burdwan University. Smt. Sathi Chatterjee joined the college in 1973 followed by Smt. Indira Banerjee in 1981. It was much due to their efforts that in 1995-96, perhaps a little later than what should have been, the department could finally embark upon its new journey with the much-awaited English Honours course for undergraduate students. After going through the initial teething troubles, the department steadied itself within a few years to accommodate its new honour. Students poured in from not only the nearby 7 schools, English, Hindi and Bengali mediums, but also it quite painstakingly from wider distances much as Durgapur, Maithon, Chittaranjan, Dhanbad, Burdwan and so forth. At present there are three faculty in the substantive post and three faculty belonging to the SACT category.

7. SWOC analysis of the department and future plans:

Students are benefited through class tests and unit tests. Many of them developed a flair for better writing. Soon we intend to organize departmental seminars to encourage more and more participation of students as speakers. Teaching through power-point presentation will be beneficial.

Strengths:

Some students are very meritorious and can grip the subject well. Students are mostly obedient and regular. The faculty is also very sincere and hardworking. Relationship between the faculty and the students are very cordial.

Weaknesses:

Students come from different socio-economic and cultural backgrounds. Some of them hail from first generation literate families. For them understanding of the subject become difficult. Students from Hindi medium background face difficulties in writing and understanding English or Bengali.

Shortage of teaching faculty in the department is creating disruption in smooth running of the classes. Lack of class rooms, dedicated smart classroom make situation difficult in the full academic session. As a result, simultaneous holding of honours and general classes of the department becomes impossible.

Opportunities:

After completion of studies, students can sit for various competitive examinations. They can take up careers in teaching, archaeology, museology and in administrative services.

7. SWOC analysis of the department and future plans:

Strengths

- A faculty which prides itself in commitment towards the students' future and shaping their careers
- A wide variety of students from various locations add to the diversity of the department, thereby adding to the personality development of the students as well because of interactions with their peers of diverse backgrounds
- Encouraging active participation of the students in co-curricular activities viz. creating stalls, posters and write ups on various sociological topics thus providing them more exposure and enhancing their creativity skills
- Rigorous tracking of the progress made by individual students and highlighting their areas of improvement in the Parents Teachers meeting. This also ensues in a sense of transparency between the faculty and the parents /guardians

Weakness

- The ratio of students to the faculty members is a bit stretched.
- Less number of faculty results in too great a load to bear on the individual professors in terms of finishing the syllabus efficiently and devoting more time to the students' individual development
- A fair majority of the students come from a Bengali background. However, the number of books on Sociology has very limited availability in the Bengali language. As a result, this results in a big challenge for the students as well as the professors.

Opportunities

- Sociology as a subject is uniquely suited to help develop the skill that is required for a successful career.
- Sociologists study social life, social change, diverse communities and their interactions, and they use scientific methods to find empirical answers to complex social questions
- As it deals with the issues that we face in our day to day lives, a degree in Sociology prepares an individual for better understanding and engaging with the globalizing world

Challenges

- Being a relatively new subject, it is a challenge in trying to convince students to pursue a career in Sociology
- Most schools do not have Sociology as a subject in their Arts curriculum in the higher secondary level. As a result, it becomes difficult for the students to grasp concepts and understand topics. It thus demands a greater level of commitment and patience from the professors.

Future Plans

- Setting up of the departmental library
- Facilitating audio visual aids to the students so as to bring out the credibility and understanding of the various topics in as much simplified and concise manner
- Extra emphasis to be laid on interactive methods of learning rather than the normal (lectures) so as to improve the domain knowledge and understanding of the students.

6. SWOC analysis of the department and future plans:

Strengths:

Well-qualified and highly dedicated faculty, moderately equipped laboratory along with competent laboratory staff, computer facility, departmental library facility, intelligent and hard-working students, a well-disciplined and conducive academic environment.

Weaknesses:

Insufficient faculty and laboratory staff, inadequate laboratory space, lack of good collection of text and reference books in the department, lack of central library, and non-availability of adequate departmental internet facilities. Lack of adequate funding for maintaining and improving departmental, laboratory, and library conditions.

Opportunities:

Remedial classes are taken for the students who are not up to standard yet at the level to help them improve. Additional classes on advanced topics are taken for interested high-performing students. Interested students get help and advice for pursuing higher studies. Career counselling of the students is also done by the department.

Challenges:

Socio-economic conditions become a challenge for some students to complete the course. A few per cent of our students are weak from a conceptual point of view and some have poor communication skills. We try to overcome their weaknesses by arranging some question-answer sessions as well as discussions with them outside the classroom.

Future Plan:

We wish to modernize our laboratory to make it well-equipped and upgrade our departmental library with more books according to the syllabus as well as reference books. We shall also try to arrange a much better internet facility in the department which will help the faculties and our students. It will help both the economically poor and interested students. Our challenge is to attract a good number of quality students to take physics honours courses in their undergraduate studies and to inculcate a strong determination and motivation for pursuing higher studies and research in the frontier areas of basic and applied science.

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY

1. Year of Establishment of the department

General Course: 1974

Honours Course: 1999

2. A brief introduction of the department

The Department has been running since 1972. Initially it was under the common name “The Department of Biology” (Botany and Zoology combined). Zoology Department has been existing since 1974 as a separate Department. From then Dr. Milly Palit was the senior most faculty, retired on 01.02.2003. Dr. Madhuri Karmakar serving the Department since 21.01.1974 as a full-time lecturer, retired on 01.09.2006. Sri Kashinath Nandi has been working as a Laboratory Instructor since 30.11.1982. The Laboratory Attendants Subodh Bhadra joined on 30.11.1982 and Sri Braja Gopal Sinha joined on 08.01.2000. Dr Shrabani Barun, Dr Supriya Ray, Ms Neelam Sabina Murmu serving the Department as a full-time faculty since 12.05.2005, 01.08.2008 and 10.02.2017 respectively. Ms Anamika Kumari and Mrs Jyoti Singh Joined as guest faculty on 14.06.2019 and 20.06.2019 respectively and later confirmed as SACT from 13.07.2020.

The University of Burdwan has granted the extension of its affiliation in Zoology Honours in the session 1999-2000 to keep pace with the on growing demands of the students of this College on condition that no full-time faculty would be provided at least for five years. From then onwards both the Zoology Honours and General courses are taught here simultaneously. Only 12 Seats for Honours course was permitted in the opening year (1999-2000) by the University. But the College authority appealed the University to extend the number of seats up to 20 on the basis of rapidly changing education scenario and also to offer chances to more students for higher education. The University permitted 15 seats from the year 2000-2001 and 20 from 2001-2002. With time the number of seats in the Honours course has increased up to 32 intake capacities at present. In the session 2015-2016 the College has been taken by Kazi Nazrul University and 2016-2017 onwards semester system examination is introduced.

Priorities and aims:

The Department of Zoology is running with the under Graduate Honours and Program Courses. Our top priority is the students' performance in the University Examinations. To achieve the climax, we not only restricted within the classroom lectures, we also insist the students to participate outside the classroom programmes-exhibitions, excursions, seminars, and different cultural activities inside and outside the Institution.

Weakness: Shortage of Teaching Staff and Technical staff, insufficient space, insufficient infrastructure in respect to Research work and insufficient modern equipment in laboratory.

Opportunity: As Bengali, Hindi and English medium students from different community, religion and culture from different region come here to study. So, it is a great opportunity for the department to inculcate a mixed culture with greater adaptability, adjustment, sensitivity, good values and moral character which will ultimately make a good human being.

Challenges: Our endeavor is to improve the student's quality up to the mark specially those who are mediocre instead of insufficient teaching staff.

Future plans: To introduce a research cell furnished with modern equipments for teachers' personal research work as well as for students which will help them to accomplish their in-house projects.

To introduce add-on courses concentric to adopt the students, to meet the students with global challenges.

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

1. Year of Establishment of the department

General & Honours Course: 1996

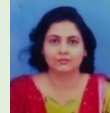

2. A brief introduction of the department

Born from a vision of empowerment, the department of commerce emerged in 1996, offering accounting education tailored for the women of this coalfield region. Starting with humble beginnings, with Honours and General courses and limited resources, the department has blossomed into a thriving hub of knowledge with over 300 students. Guided by a steadfast commitment to excellence, the department boasts a dedicated team of 4 permanent faculty members and 2 SACT, all equipped with the expertise and passion to nurture the next generation of accounting professionals.

In line with the NEP's forward-thinking vision, our curriculum empowers students not only with academic rigor but also with real-world experiences. Our commitment to holistic learning is evident in the vibrant tapestry of educational tours, industry visit, excursions, workshop, special lecture and seminars that regularly grace our calendar. The department's unwavering dedication to student success bears fruit in the consistently impressive results year after year, with most semesters witnessing a remarkable 100% pass rate. But beyond the numbers, we celebrate the stories of empowered women who, equipped with financial acumen, are carving their own destinies and shaping the future of this community.

7. SWOC analysis of the department and future plans.

Strength:

Students are enriched with strong Values and good communication skill. They are very disciplined, dedicated, diligent and dynamic. They have the ability to adapt themselves at any condition. The relationship between teachers, students and office staff are quite appreciable. Ultimately any student can be benefited from the circumstances prevailing in the college. Cent per cent support and co-operation from the authority in respect to purchase of books, invitation of the resource-persons, holding of seminar, participation in different programmes such as OP, RC etc., arrangement of MRP is the main strength of the department.

Weakness:

There is a shortage of teaching staff in the department though the authority manages it by appointing some guest lecturers. In addition to that modern teaching techniques are not available due to lack of proper infrastructure. In the present era the students need to be provided with internet facilities which are not available to them. Sometimes classes are lapsed due to want of Class Room.

Opportunity:

There is a wide scope of the students after becoming a full commerce graduate. Students can pursue higher studies such as M.Com. LLB, CA, CS, ICWAI etc. They can apply for the government jobs of different State Government. Student can get preparation for competitive examinations such as Banking, Rail etc.

Challenges:

Though the students are concentrating for achieving a good career by scoring higher marks in the examination but the syllabus enacted by the University cannot encompass all the issues which are coming in the globe time to time which are need to be aware by the student. But they are losing their value without paying due attention to these new issues such as changes in the Companies law, Provisions of the Taxation matters and in other different matters. Ready job market is not available. So, as a result they required being self employed but due to different constraint they are not in the position to apply their entrepreneurial ability in reality.

Future planning:

- A workshop to be organized for the students for the Practical training on accounting, auditing, and taxation matter;
- Different plants to be visited for the practical knowledge of industrial affairs;
- Experts from different fields are to be invited to introduced the students in the businessworld; and
- Seminars on current issues are to be arranged to get the students acquainted with thechanges those are frequently coming in the globe.

8. Significant achievement of the department:

The major achievement of the students is reflecting through their success in different examination in national levels like C.A, I.C.W.A.I, C.S, N.E.T, S.E.T, BANKING etc. over the years continuously.
